The trek to Everest Base Camp is amongst the most dramatic and picturesque in the Himalaya. The scenery is varied and spectacular, the lodgings and tracks are of very high standard, and the interaction with the local Sherpa people is forever memorable. Our trek is unique in that we have the privilege of spending some time at Everest Base Camp exploring the area and seeing the inner workings of expedition life.

OUTLINE OF THE TREK

The trek members meet in Kathmandu, the capital of the Kingdom of Nepal. You are greeted at the airport by our Kathmandu representatives, who whisk you through the bustling city to your hotel.

Once everybody has arrived we have a team meeting where introductions are made and the trip outlined. You will be briefed on the trip preparations and we can sort out any queries or questions you have.

Your guide will advise you on good shopping and the best restaurants to visit in the city. After an optional sight-seeing tour and familiarisation with the layout of Kathmandu, you are free to look around. There are plenty of shops and entertainment venues to suit all tastes. From excellent bookshops to mountain bike hire, souvenir shopping and bars, Kathmandu’s retail fraternity is waiting to meet you!

We use a full day in Kathmandu to sort out any equipment problems you may have, so don’t worry if you have forgotten anything as there are plenty of good outdoor shops in Kathmandu.

Next morning we fly into the village of Lukla at 2,860m/9,383ft, the beginning of our trek. The trek takes 13 days from our departure from Lukla until we return to that point. The walking is over mostly gentle terrain with a couple of long hill climbs that follow very well formed tracks through the Sherpa homeland.

The Sherpa are of Tibetan origin, having travelled over the high Tibetan passes to settle in the Nepalese Highlands. They developed trade between the two countries, bringing gems, wool and salt from Tibet in exchange for the plentiful Nepalese products. The Sherpas brought their Buddhist religion with them, which they evolved to develop their own sect of the faith. They are very generous and spiritual people with a colourful lifestyle, and our trek allows us to spend time with them in their homeland and visit their monasteries.

The trekking days are moderately strenuous and involve walking between 4 and 6 hours in duration, with plenty of scenic places to stop along the way. We place a lot of emphasis on maintaining good health to enhance our trekking experience.

There is the issue of altitude we have to contend with which is incorporated into our trekking itinerary. We have included rest days at the relevant elevations to allow our bodies to adjust to the thin air and we carry sufficient medication to deal with most altitude related problems. Experience has shown us that good hydration, rest days at significant elevations and good base fitness help avoid any significant problems during the trek.

From Lukla, the trail contours the valley walls of the lower Khumbu Valley with fine views through the stands of Himalayan pines up to the high mountains above. We spend a night in Phakding and next day we follow the valley to the base of the Namche Hill.
A long climb brings us to the famous village of Namche Bazaar, which is the centre of trade for the Sherpa people as it has been for hundreds of years. There are many sights to delight in Namche Bazaar with dramatic views across the valley to Mount Kwonde, a wonderful backdrop to the unique Sherpa architecture of the houses and lodges here. On our rest day, we explore the local Sherpa Museum and bustling Namche markets.

The next stage of our trek takes us through Khumjung, home of Sir Edmund Hillary’s School and famous for its high altitude bakery. From Khumjung, we follow a gradual incline skirting around the hillside to the Mong La (3,970m/13,025ft), then a steep descent through rhododendron forest, which is in full bloom in April, to the river at Phortse Tenga. From here it is a short walk to the small village of Phortse, where we overnight.

From Phortse we follow a high traverse, passing through the village of Pangboche. This route to Pangboche is one of the less frequently travelled trails in the Khumbu. As a result, it’s not uncommon to see Himalayan tahr and danphe, the Himalayan pheasant, near the trail.

As we continue on, we enjoy splendid views of the world’s highest mountains. Mount Everest pokes its head out above the high ridges of Mounts Nuptse and Lhotse whilst Ama Dablam stands omnipotent over the valley. We gradually climb above the tree line into the sub-alpine regions and our next stop, Pheriche, is situated on a green plain with yaks grazing contentedly. A rest day here allows us the opportunity to walk about and enjoy the views.

On the trek, we will be utilising the best accommodation options available to us, primarily in teahouses or lodges. By having a flexible approach, we can do our best to both aid the acclimatisation process and remain together as a team.

Our next stage takes us to Lobuche village and the base of the Khumbu Glacier. Mount Everest is hidden from us even though we are so close, but Pumori, Nuptse, Lobuche and Taweche provide plenty of scenic splendour.

From Lobuche our itineraries vary between seasons.
PRE-MONSOON

The pre-monsoon trips leave Lobuche for Everest Base Camp. It is here that the climbers rest and recuperate when not actually up on the mountain and our group will have the privilege of spending some time at the Adventure Consultants Base Camp. There is always plenty of activity as the Sherpas and climbers prepare for their next phase of climbing on the mountain. Loads of food, fuel, tents and oxygen cylinders are carried through the spectacular Khumbu Icefall to the camps high on the mountain. We enjoy a night here which gives us a chance to explore Base Camp and see the inner workings of an expedition.

The following morning, we descend to Gorak Shep, located in the shadow of Kala Patar, which is a real highlight of a trek up the Khumbu. At sunrise and sunset, the views of Everest can be magical, and we’ll make the climb in the hope of enjoying a photographic session from the summit!

POST MONSOON

Meanwhile, our post-monsoon departures depart Lobuche for our Gorak Shep Camp, stunningly located to allow a glimpse of Everest from the comfort of our tents. We will also have the opportunity to climb Kala Patar for an incredible Himalayan panorama.

The following morning, we rise early and enjoy a hearty breakfast before making our day trip to Everest Base Camp! Although the camp itself is quieter during the post-monsoon season there is much to see, and we have plenty of time to explore and absorb the magic of the place. We trek close to the base of the spectacular Khumbu Icefall, which alongside the surrounding mountains makes for perhaps our most extraordinary lunch stop of the trek, and it’s with some reluctance that we say goodbye to Base Camp and begin our descent to lower altitudes, returning to the comfort of our Gorak Shep Camp.

From Gorak Shep, the itinerary for both seasons merges again as we continue the steady descent to Pheriche and then Namche Bazaar, now seemingly bustling with activity following the quiet of the higher reaches of the Khumbu. From Namche Bazaar we descend to Lukla and the following day we fly back to Kathmandu and the finish of the trek.
